I-30 Paving at Fulton Contracted

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A Ruston, La., landed the fattest of four million-dollar contracts among 13 contracts on which bids were opened today by the state Highway Commission.
T. L. James Inc. bid $1,261,711 on the job, which calls for grading, laying base and surfacing 4.8 miles of Interstate 40 in Crittenden County.
The section to be paved starts at the St. Francis County line and goes east.
The total low bids on the 13 contracts was $7,398,601.
LEE—Construction on a 526-foot bridge and minor drainage structures, grading and surfacing about three miles of Arkansas 1 north of a point about a half mile north of Fenton; Forsgren Inc., Fort Smith, and Ben M. Hogan Co., Little Rock $1,059,330.
ST. FRANCIS — About 18 miles of fencing of Interstate 40 east from the Monroe County line: United Fence Co., North Little Rock, $64,159.
CLEVELAND — Construction of a rest area at the intersection of U.S. 79 and Arkansas 212: Stratton Construction Co., Sheridan, $64,291.
HEMPSTEAD — Grading, laying base and surfacing of about 4.4 miles of Interstate 30 northeast of the Red Lake interchange east of Fulton: Austin Road Co., Dallas, Tex., $1,200,438.
POLK—Grading, laying base and surfacing about 2.2 miles of Arkansas 88 in Queen Wilhelmina State Park and miscellaneous items in the park: APT Construction Co., North Little Rock, $268,862.
FULTON—Widening a 32-foot bridge and grading and surfacing of 27 miles of U.S. 62 south from the Missouri state line: No bids received.
CLARK—Grading and surfacing about 4.2 miles of road at the junction of U.S. 67 and Arkansas 51: Moro Inc., Warren, $229,705.
FAULKNER — Construction of four overpasses and an underpass, grading and surfacing of about 2.4 miles on Interstate 40 east and southeast from a point a half mile west of Arkansas 25: W. J. Menefee Construction Co., Sedalia, Mo., $1,056,951.
FAULKNER — Construction of one underpass and two overpasses and grading of about 3.9 miles on U.S. 64 and an industrial road, including the U.S. 64 and Arkansas 286 interchanges on Interstate 40: W. J. Menefee Construction Co., Sedalia, Mo., $868,889.
WASHINGTON — Construction of a rest area about four miles north of Winslow on U.S. 71: Horn Concrete Fishing Co., Greenland, $38,478.
CARROLL—Construction of a 280-foot bridge, grading and surfacing of about .45 miles of Arkansas 103 across the Osage Creek: Bailey & Crouse Construction Co., Harrison, $138,598.
MISSISSIPPI — Construction of three bridges totaling 592 feet, grading and surfacing on about .57 miles of Arkansas 140 a three places between Arkansas 77 and Arkansas 181: Mississippi Valley Construction Co., Paragould, $240,919.
ORANGEHEAD AND MISSISSIPPI — Construction of five bridges totaling 435 feet on Arkansas 18 from Monette to near the junction with Arkansas 119: Ben M. Hogan Co., Little Rock, $303,290.
Pryor Promises to Work at Job
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Rep. David Pryor told a television audience Tuesday night that if he is elected to Congress from the 4th District, he would not just "occupy" the office.
"I intend to make it an office which is constantly at work doing whatever is needed to serve you," Pryor said, "to accomplish your objective, and to obtain the good things of life for the people of South Arkansas."

ALLENTOWN ANTICS—Attracting attention was easy, but whether these models can sell incredulous bystanders on these jet-set fashions is another question. The designs, created by Princess Galitine of Rome on special order, were paraded in Allentown, Pa., by a department store. The quilted-nylon, turtle-neck jumpsuit complete with space helmet, left, is for resort and beach wear. The swimsuit with peephole helmet, at right, is of orange and white stretch fabric.

Loans Flatten Pocketbooks of Public

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — If your diet has been running strongly to pork, poultry, eggs, cucumbers and green peppers, your pocketbook should be fatter. But if you have taken on a new mortgage, needed some house repairs, and made more trips to the doctor, dentist or hospital, as well as to the barber or beauty shop, your pocketbook probably is flatter than ever.
That is what the average citizen is likely to get out of a study of the latest report on the government's consumer price index. Prices of the foods named declined so much in May that the drop almost offset the rise in the services named, along with higher costs for any new furniture, women's clothing or cigarettes you may have bought.
Many a citizen may have been unaware of this breathing spell in the rapid race toward a higher cost of living.
But to statistics-conscious Washington, the bend in the index chart of the Labor Department's consumer price index is welcomed as another sign that in May, at least, the inflationary forces that were storming ahead early in the year were being brought into line.
The drop in some food prices was due to the weather, when the growing season arrived.
Both farmers and food processors have been sensitive of late to complaints about rising prices. The farmer points at the relatively small percentage of the retail price tag that he gets for his efforts. The food processors point to the rising costs of preparing, transporting and retailing food, and say their profits are comparatively small.
The shopper just pays and wonders. But the Federal Reserve Bank in Dallas has been studying the spread in price. It says that the labor portion of the food marketing bill was about 45 per cent of the total, or almost $22 billion, in 1964.
These were latest figures available from the Department of Agriculture.
From all indications the total bill has risen since, but the bank says the labor cost as a percentage has held fairly stable over recent years.
The number of workers engaged in food processing and marketing has grown to nearly nine million. The bank says the growth is due to the steady rise in the volume of products marketed, the increase in services available per unit, and a cut in average hours worked.
In the last 10 years marketing costs have increased 43 per cent, while raw food costs have risen 31 per cent. The bank says the spread between farm and retail prices has increased because of additional services involved and now demanded.

Breakthrough in Battle on Malaria

By JOHN T. WHEELER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Army medical researchers reported today a major breakthrough in the fight against malaria, next to the Viet Cong the most savage enemy American troops face in Viet Nam.
A spokesman for the surgeon general's office said diamino-diphenylsulfone (DDS), a drug long used in treating leprosy, was found in Viet Nam field tests to cut in half the number of men who are stricken by malaria.
Soldiers who receive the drug but still come down with the disease should be able to return to duty in two or three weeks, instead of the present six to eight weeks. Chances of a relapse should be slashed from 40 per cent to 4 per cent.
Last year 1,801 U.S. troops were stricken by malaria with 63,035 man days lost. The latest complete monthly figures which fluctuate widely show that one of every 20 men could expect to be stricken during their one year tour.
The drug has been approved by the armed forces epidemiological board and the Food and Drug Administration, the spokesman said. Use of the drug by all U.S. troops in danger areas is expected soon. Stockpiles of DDS already are on hand in Viet Nam.
The drug is aimed specifically at falciparum, which drugs now in use are virtually helpless to prevent. Falciparum, a severe form of malaria, is restricted to the Vietnamese highlands.
A less serious strain of malaria, vivax, is under almost full control in Viet Nam with presently used drugs.
A top figure in the research section of the surgeon general's office said even though the number of cases should be halved with the use of DDS, the figure still was too high "and we certainly haven't whipped this thing yet."
Walter Reed Hospital's Army Institute of Research headed the extensive test project that ended two weeks ago. The Army considers the malaria problem urgent enough that necessary final approval from the Food and Drug Administration was arranged in a telephone call.
Present plans are to give GIs in the highlands one 25 milligram pill each day at a cost of about a penny a dose. GIs would continue to use the pills for one month after leaving Viet Nam.
Malaria is transmitted by the Anopheles mosquito. DDS attacks the organism once it gets into the human system, preventing it from maturing and reproducing, thus helping to prevent the illness.

America's New Hero Is Very Shy One

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH
WASHINGTON (AP) — America's newest medal of honor or winner is a shy, quiet 32-year-old 1st lieutenant who says he didn't know he was being a hero during that long night last year in South Viet Nam.
"I had a mission to perform — and I did it," recalled Charles O. Williams, a wearer of the green beret of the Army Special Forces. "The thought that I was being a hero didn't occur to me. I just wanted to protect my men."
Williams took command of his detachment after his commanding officer was wounded during a fierce night-long battle while a Viet Cong regiment was attempting to overrun the special forces outpost at Dong Xoai on June 9-10, 1965.
Despite several wounds, Williams directed defense operations, stabilized his unit's position and encouraged his troops to hold out against the attackers. At the time, he was executive officer of the A detachment, 5th Special Forces Group.
He was ordered back to the United States last February after a year's service in Viet Nam.
In an exclusive interview in advance of being awarded the nation's highest honor today by President Johnson at a White House ceremony, Williams said some signs of that night in Viet Nam are still with him.
"I still have some nerve damage," he said, "and a machine gun bullet caught me here" — he pointed to a neatly sutured eight-inch scar on his right forearm.
"I was lucky though," Williams added with a grimace. "I only grazed my arm. Otherwise I might have lost it."
There are other signs, too, of that night in Viet Nam.
Stocky and fair-skinned, Williams looks older than his 32 years. He doesn't want to go back to Viet Nam.
"I'll probably be going back some day," the professional soldier said. "I can't say I want to go — I've got a family and a life back here — but if I'm told to go I will."

Sea Lamprey Almost Gone

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (AP) — The sea lamprey, which feeds on valuable food fish, has been 90 per cent eliminated in the Great Lakes, says Donald McKernan, director of the U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries.
He said the trout population in the Great Lakes was up tenfold in the past few years.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — On Sunday morning, the gentle genius of comedy, Ed Wynn, reached the end of his years, which were a few months short of four-score.
Two generations of entertainers will pay tribute to "The Perfect Fool" Thursday at Forest Lawn, and their homage is well-placed. No American star sustained a longer career and succeeded in so many phases of show business. None was more universally liked by his fellow performers.
Everyone has his own memories of Ed Wynn. I remember him first as radio's fire chief. His shrill voice spouting gems of comic near-hysteria. During the war I saw him in a vaudeville revue, "Big Time," and the rancor of his comic talent was more apparent.
He plodded about the stage in huge shoes and oversized costumes, pausing now and then to spout an inane invention as if it had just been revealed to him. He weaved through all the acts and ended the show with a charming bit he often used.
Wynn pedaled onstage with his own invention, a piano mounted on a bicycle. The chapeau — I believe it was Jane Pickens — sat atop the piano and sang "Tea for Two" while Wynn glided the vehicle about the stage in rhythm to the song.
His early television shows brought all his comic talents into sharp focus. The gentleness of his humor was a welcome contrast to the hard-driving comics of early TV.
Wynn was worried when his son Keenan talked him into taking a dramatic role in the film "The Great Man." In his previous half-century before the public, he had always relied on wild costumes, clownish eyebrows and huge spectacles.
"When I saw myself in the rushes, I was amazed at how I looked," he told me. "I had never seen myself as I really was. But here was an old guy with a bald head and an ugly kisser. No wonder I had marriage troubles!"
It was one of his rare mentions of his unhappy marriages. Like Maurice Chevalier, Sophie Tucker and others who failed to find happiness in their private lives, Ed made a shrine of his career. He prided himself in the fact that the only show medium he had never played was burlesque.
He was proud, too, that he remained in demand during his 70s. George Stevens gave him his most dramatic roles, in "The Diary of Anne Frank" and "The Greatest Story Ever Told."

Stability in Viet Nam Said Much Better

By JAC KBELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell said today the U.S. military situation in Viet Nam is improving and political stability in Saigon is "a great deal better than it was six weeks ago."

Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said "We are not out of the woods yet" but significant military progress is being made against the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

"This progress has been made despite the tragic handicap of political dissension behind the lines," the Georgia Democrat said. "But I believe that latter situation is a great deal better than it was six weeks ago."

In other developments relating to Viet Nam:
—The Army disclosed it is converting 11 World War II oil tankers into floating electrical generating plants. When docked in Viet Nam, the electricity the ships generate will be relayed to local power stations. The Army said each ship, drawing on its own 150,000-barrel oil capacity, can produce power around the clock for about two years without refueling.
—Army medical researchers reported tests have disclosed a drug long used in treating leprosy also can be used to combat malaria, which afflicted 1,801 U.S. soldiers in Viet Nam last year. Officials said the drug, diamino-diphenylsulfone, reduces by half the number of men stricken by malaria.
—Maj. Gen. Roy Lasseter Jr., deputy assistant chief of staff for intelligence, told the House Appropriations Committee in testimony made public today that the only way to halt the movement of Communist troops, arms and ammunition into South Viet Nam is to seize the ground over which it moves.
Perhaps significantly, Russell said in an interview that he can't talk about a possible escalation of the U.S. military effort forecast in the Senate Wednesday by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y.
Urging a reciprocal reduction in hostilities, Javits said President Johnson had provided "the rationale for the further escalation of the conflict." He alluded to Johnson's statement Saturday that the United States may have to step up operations in the south and raise the cost of aggression in the north.
There is general belief among members of Congress that the war is going to get hotter. Some feel that escalation may come while members are scattered on an Independence Day vacation and critics lack a ready-made forum in Washington.

DeAnn Lilac Club

A picnic for the DeAnn Lilac Garden Club was held Tuesday, June 21 at the home of Mrs. B. J. Arnold with Mr. Richard Arnold assisting in the duties of hostess. The cool, shady back yard of the Ellis home provided a delightful setting for the picnic, which had for its theme "Let's visit."

Shasta daisies centered the serving table where the meal was enjoyed by 11 members and 1 guest, Miss Nan Arnold. Miss Lillie Clark was judged to have the Most Appetizing Dish in the competition among members.

New officers for the coming year were named. They are: President, Mr. J. C. Burke; vice-president, Mrs. Hollis Samuel; recording secretary, Mrs. Henry Burke; corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. C. Clark; treasurer, Mrs. Jewell Burke; reporter, Mrs. Hollis Samuel. The next meeting, September 20, will be with Mrs. Henry Willett.

Engagement Announced at Tea

An arrangement of white satin ribbons, bows, and tiny bells informed guests of the wedding date planned by Miss Mary Beth Allen of Texarkana and Jack Caldwell of Hope. Announcement was made at a tea given in the Allen home by Mrs. Clarence A. Shiffer of Texarkana and Mrs. Joseph W. Allen of Shreveport.

Receiving guests with the hostesses and the honoree were Mrs. Ray Allen, mother of the future bride; Mrs. Andy Caldwell; and his grandmother, Mrs. James A. Fair of Hope. Presiding at the guest book was Miss Diane Ellis of Hope.

The table was covered with a white cutwork linen cloth and centered with a silver bud vase holding a single pink rose. Guests were invited into the dining room by Miss Carole Richards of Little Rock. Tiny white and pink cakes were served by Mrs. Ray Allen Jr., of Hope; and Mrs. Wayne Cleavenger of Texarkana.

The refreshment table was covered with pink linen overlaid with floor length white net accented by pink satin ribbons. The centerpiece was an arrangement of pink carnation and pink Aristocrat roses in a silver epergne which also held burling white tapers.

Alternating at the silver punch bowl were Mrs. William M. Barrett and Mrs. Billy Ray Seale, both of Texarkana, also Mrs. A. H. McMin.

Miss Rose Ann Williams of Hope furnished piano music for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Phillips visited this weekend in Bardonia, Ky., with the Frank Schultz family, former residents of Hope. Little Miss Stacy Schultz accompanied them home for a visit here.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

Mrs. Cornelius Carl Apfel Jr.

The single ring ceremony of Miss Frances Jane Wimberly and Lt. Cornelius Carl Apfel, Jr. took place in Broad Street Methodist Church at eleven a.m. Saturday, June 18. Dr. R. Frank Porter officiated, assisted by Chaplain Herbert C. Bolton.

Decorations were two urns of white gladioli, stock, and daisies, which stood on either side of the chancel. The altar was lighted with candles. Prior to and during the ceremony, Mrs. Julian King presented organ selections.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Davis Wimberly, of Kingsport, the granddaughter of Mrs. Joseph W. Wimberly and the late Mr. Wimberly of Hope. The bride was graduated from Vanderbilt University in June, with a B. A. Degree. While there, she served on the Publications Board, the Student Senate, and the Panhellenic Council. She was a member of Athenians, honorary society, and Chi Omega Sorority, of which she is immediate past president.

The bride-groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Carl Apfel, Sr. of Nashville, Tennessee. Lt. Apfel received a B. A. Degree from Vanderbilt University in June. He served as corresponding secretary of his fraternity, Kappa Alpha Order. Upon graduation, he was commissioned Second Lt. in the U. S. Army.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory silk gown with sabrine neckline and empire waist. The bell-shaped sleeves and skirt were trimmed in Brussels rose-points lace. The train fell in a separate panel Her headpiece was a circlet of silk linen embroidered in matching lace, with fingertip veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white gladiolias.

The matron of honor was Mrs. David H. Dorminey, sister of the bride. The maid of honor was Miss Tish Wimberly sister of the bride. Other attendants were Miss Dorothy Apfel, sister of the groom, Miss Sandra Unruh, Miss Barbara Jenkins, Miss Martha Harrison, Miss Portie Morrison, & Elizabeth Reed. The bridesmaids wore dresses of ivory shantung, with scooped necklines and empire waistlines. The sleeves and waistlines were trimmed in daisy applique. They carried bouquets of yellow shasta daisies.

Lt. Pat Risen served as best man. Groomsmen were: George Apfel, brother of the bridegroom, John Mazach, Robert Orr, Gareth Aden, Allen Kennedy, Thomas Baker, Michael Hartsfield, John Wallace and Don Booker.

Following the ceremony, the parents of the bride were hosts for a breakfast at Ridgefields Country Club.

More than 12 billion checks are written annually in the United States alone, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Christ Statue to Be Dedicated

EUREKA SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—The 540-ton Christ of the Ozarks statue built by the Elma M. Smith Foundation will be dedicated at its 167-acre Magnetic Mountain here Saturday. The seven-story high statue is one of three giant statues of Christ in the world and the only one on the North American continent, the Smith Foundation said.

HELEN HELP US!

—by Helen Bittel—

They'll Do It Every Time
Dear Helen: My parents get pushed because I don't snap to the minute they tell me to do something.

They started a new rule that every time I say "Just a minute" I'm going to be fined ten cents out of my allowance. I don't think this is fair because when a guy is doing something important he shouldn't be expected to drop everything. Like when Dad is watching a ballgame on TV, Mom doesn't tell him to get out there and hoe the weeds. But when I'm putting together a model car — that's different! And there's another 10 cents I'll never see.

Well Helen, I asked Mom if she would read this letter and see what she thought. You know what she said? — "Just a minute." So I sent it anyhow. — Minuteless Man

Dear M.M.: If your mother and father have a minute, they had better read your letter NOW. And learn kids are great imitators.

Parents shouldn't expect more of their children than they're willing to give themselves — but they have every right to expect chores done within a given time limit (which makes allowances for important things like model cars and ballgames). —H.

Dear Helen: My problem is quite small compared to others, but, oh, so irritating! My boy friend has the advantage of a college education and is using it quite effectively. His one fault is that he uses the following improper phrases:

1. "I already SEEN that movie."
2. "You AIN'T kidding."
3. "It DON'T matter."
4. "He DONE it."
5. "I SNUCK in."

How can I graciously and effectively make him aware of these habits? — Miss Usage

Dear Miss Usage: If you know him well enough, easy kidding "might could" do the trick. —H.

Personal To "Taboo Tattoo" — You're more phony than funny, and so are your other tasteless letters (all ten of them). Try elsewhere. —H.

Dear Helen: I read in your column once about a girl hating her mother and you said probably by the time the letter was printed she would be over it. Well, I've hated my mother for two years, and it's worse than ever. She's always on my back. When I tell her anything, she blabs it all over, so I don't any more. She yells at me and cuts me down. No matter what I do, it's stupid and bad.

I don't have a guidance counselor and if I did I'd be too ashamed to tell about it. On the outside we appear as mother and daughter should, but it's got so bad once that I tried to kill myself by taking a mess of pills. I only got sick.

I'd run away, but I'd be made to come back and then I'd get it all the worse. "I'm a loner" and don't have close friends to talk to. My sister money isn't enough to pay for professional help. Please, Helen do something. — Desperately Sick of Life At 17.

Dear 17: You desperately need the friendship of an understanding adult who can listen to your problems. Please send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and I'll try to find someone in your town who can help you. —H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble, or just plain trouble let Helen help YOU! She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address: Helen Bittel in care of Hope Star.

Mink is the most popular fur in the United States. Minks have been raised in captivity for their fur since 1866 but were not produced in great quantity until around 1930. Fox farmers converted to raising mink and today the production of ranch-raised mink is about 6 million animals per year. Mink accounts for 75 per cent of the fur trade. Wisconsin produces one-third of the total.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Improbable Is Often Probable

By JACOBY & SON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

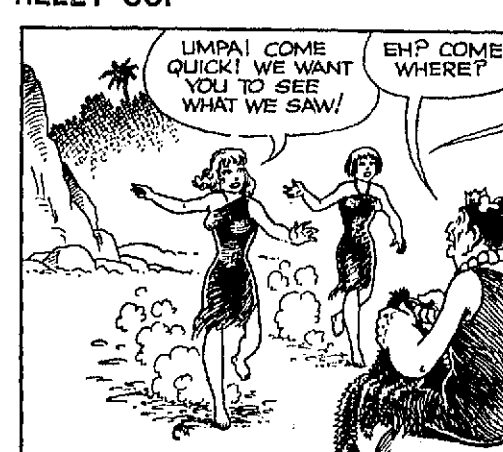

A really great bridge player knows the correct mathematical play. He doesn't always follow this line. Sometimes he believes that the cards aren't going to follow the most probable distribution and that he should go against the mathematics.

When this treatment succeeds he is a hero. When it fails he is a bum.

South started by playing four rounds of hearts. East discarded the eight of clubs on the last heart. South dropped the four of clubs and West the deuce of diamonds. South cashed dummy's king and queen of diamonds and received the bad news that the jack of diamonds was thoroughly protected in the West hand. Then South ran four spades. East discarded a club on the last spade and South studied his last four cards. He had two ways to play the hand. The simple way would be to discard the ten of diamonds and play East for the ace of clubs. The complicated way would be to discard his last low club and play West for the ace of clubs. Strict mathematics favored the simple play. East had started with six clubs and West with only two but South studied that early discard of the eight of clubs by East.

East was a very good player. Why would he go out of his way to say he held the ace of clubs? Was it a double-cross? Or a triple-cross?

Finally South decided that it was a triple-cross and that East actually did not hold the ace of clubs. South discarded his low club!

West had to throw the queen of clubs to keep his two diamonds and South end played him with a club lead.

Ex-Champions Make Meet Private Feud

By JERRY LISK
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Nine former champions adorn the 131-player field in the $100,000 Western Open starting today, and two — Billy Casper and Arnold Palmer — may make the tourney a private feud.

Casper, who snatched the U.S. Open crown from the collapsing Palmer at San Francisco earlier this week, is defending champion in the 72-hole medal play quest for a top prize of $20,000.

Palmer, who now has lost three National Open playoffs and two of three playoff on the 1966 pro tour, is a two-time Western Open winner.

He took the 1961 event at Belmont, Mich., and in 1963 turned back Jack Nicklaus and Julius Boros in a Western Open playoff at Beverly Country Club in Chicago.

It was in 1963 that Palmer earlier had lost his second U.S. Open playoff, finishing behind champion Julius Boros and Jacky Cupit in their three-man overtime at Brookline, Mass.

Palmer's first National Open playoff loss came in 1962, when Nicklaus whipped him at Oakmont, Pa.

Casper, whose red hot putter whittled down Palmer in the final round Sunday and Monday's playoff of the U.S. Open in San Francisco, won $1,000 last year in taking the Western Open at Tam O'Shanter here.

Several of the 127 pros who already have probed Medina's rugged, heavily-forested par 71 layout, regard the Western Open scene as a real challenge.

"This will be a tougher test than the Open in San Francisco," said Bob Rosburg. "Medina is a beautiful but terrifically exacting course."

Other returning Western champions include Dutch Harrison (1953); Cary Middlecoff (1955); Doug Ford (1957); Doug Sanders (1958); Mike Souchak (1959); Culpit (1962), when the Western last was played at Medina; and Chi Chi Rodriguez (1964).

Lending to the prospect of a two-man showdown between leading money winner Palmer and his U.S. Open tormenter, Casper, is the fact that such stars as Nicklaus, Gary Player and Boros are skipping the Western.

Chualo and Bonavena to Open Season

NEW YORK (AP) — George Chualo, the Canadian champion, and Oscar (Ringo) Bonavena, the South American heavyweight king, will open the summer boxing season at Madison Square Garden tonight with a 10-round match that could be a brawl.

Chualo shook off Cassius Clay's punches and went the 15-round route March 29 in a Toronto world title match. Bonavena, who has lost only two fights, has been campaigning at home since losing to Zora Folley, Feb. 28, 1965.

Chualo earned a reputation as a tough guy who can take it in his fights with Clay and Floyd Patterson and is favored. His 35-12-2 record includes 28 knockouts. Bonavena has stopped 17 while building up a 20-2 mark.

Chualo's many low blows against Clay and Bonavena's disqualification for roughing have a tough night. It will be the first Garden show under the administration of Eddie Dooley, new chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission.

The 10-round match at 10 p.m. EDT will not be carried on radio or television.

For other types of medical devices.

At Tufts-Nes England Medical Center, for example, the surgical research staff includes a full time engineer and two consulting engineers.

Some potential long-range results from this teamwork may be measured from what the full time engineer, William C. Birtwell, thinks about hospital beds.

His thoughts for improvement center on some type of chamber that would make it possible to do for hospital patients what space capsules do for astronauts — put them in an environment totally different from the one around them.

For some patients, just normal atmospheric conditions — not to mention problems with infection — can be as hostile as the void of space is to a healthy human he says.

Imagine, for instance, the possibility of keeping a badly burned patient suspended in a weightless state, instead of in contact with bed sheets that complicate treatments.

For the moment, however, Birtwell is more concerned with research on mechanical aids for poorly functioning hearts.

An electrical engineer himself, he says "any intelligent engineer brought into a medical problem at the proper level can quickly learn the terminology and understand the basis of the problem so he can look at it from an engineer's viewpoint."

To illustrate the gulf in understanding that can exist between physicians and engineers, Dr. Ralph A. Deterlin Jr., surgeon-in-chief at Harvard City Science when he sought to learn how sturdy a new fabric would be if he placed it in a patient as part of an operation.

He was told that the material was "guaranteed indefinitely," which prompted him to ask how the manufacturer could be sure.

"It was left out in the weather on a roof for a year and showed no signs of deterioration," was the response.

Just as the answers when the need for textile manufacturers to learn about the effects that the body's unique set of chemicals can have interaction with substances, Dr. Deterlin says, it also demonstrated that "we physicians must be able to define better what we need."

Rather than seek solutions on his own and then ask an engineer to implement them, Dr. Deterlin explains, the physician is learning that he must "show

Koufax Gives Up Hits But Giants Win

By DICK COUCH

Sandy Koufax has captured gaining ground on the Astros, the city of Houston again. He's too.

Koufax weathered a 10-hit Houston attack Wednesday night for his 13th victory, tying Juan Marichal for the major league lead, as the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Astros 5-2 before a crowd of 50,908 largest ever for a baseball game in the Astrodome.

The previous attendance highs at the domed stadium were 50,136 and 49,442 last season — with Koufax and the Dodgers the attractions each time.

Last spring, when Koufax and teammate Don Drysdale were locked in a contract dispute with the Dodgers, Astro officials estimated they would lose $200,000 in revenue should the pair decide not to play this year.

While Koufax' drawing powers is as strong as ever in Houston, his 1966 pitching record against the Astros has been mediocre. Wednesday night's victory was his first in three tries this season against a club he had beaten 11 times in 12 previous decisions.

The Astros knocked him out in his first start, on April 13 in Los Angeles, and beat him 3-0 last week in the Dodgers' park. They tagged him freely again Wednesday night, Jim Wynn rapping four hits and John Bateman three, but the southpaw ace struggled through to the finish for his 13 complete game in 17 starts.

Elsewhere, first-place San Francisco swept a doubleheader from Chicago 3-2 and 9-5; Cincinnati nipped Pittsburgh 4-3; Philadelphia thumped Atlanta 7-3 and New York topped St. Louis 2-0 in 10 innings.

Baltimore blanked New York 3-0; Detroit whipped Washington 12-2; California trimmed Minnesota 4-1; Cleveland beat Boston 3-2 in the opener of a twin bill but lost the nightcap 6-5; and Chicago divided a twin-nighter with Kansas City, winning the first game 7-4 and losing the second 3-1, in American League play.

San Francisco stretched its league lead to four games over the Dodgers and Pirates by holding off the Cubs in the first game and outslugging them in the nightcap.

Orioles Blank Yanks, Tigers Keeping Pace

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hitting with one foot in the air doesn't seem to bother Detroit's Dick McAuliffe, but teammate Mickey Lolich apparently has to pitch with both feet on the ground.

Lolich, who landed in Washington after two weeks in the Air National Guard, scattered seven hits and struck out 10 while McAuliffe rapped a homer and double while triggering two big rallies as the Tigers clubbed the Senators 12-2 Wednesday night.

It was a strong performance for Lolich, who has been fulfilling his military obligation since the beginning of the month. He tried to pitch on his day off from camp last Sunday after being air-lifted into Detroit but was belted out in the second inning by the New York Yankees.

McAuliffe, who raises one foot in the air as he swings from his left-handed stance in the manner of oldtimer Mel Ott, combined with Willie Horton to give Lolich more than enough support.

McAuliffe led off the game with a homer, triggering a five-run outburst capped by Horton's grand slam homer. Then the Detroit shortstop got the Tigers started again with a leadoff double in a three-run second inning uprising.

McAuliffe, on a torrid streak for the last 12 games, has hit at a .375 clip during that period, raising his over-all average to .301. Of the 18 hits he has collected, 13 have been for extra bases, including seven home runs.

The victory kept the Tigers two games behind the American League leading Baltimore Orioles, who blanked the New York Yankees 3-0 on Steve Barber's four-hit pitching and a home run by Curt Blefary.

Elsewhere, third-place Cleveland got three homers from Rocky Colavito but split, defeating Boston 3-2 before losing 6-5, the Chicago White Sox belted Kansas City 7-4 before the A's took the nightcap 3-1 and California defeated Atlanta 4-1.

In the National League, San Francisco swept the Chicago Cubs 3-2 and 9-5, Los Angeles took Houston 5-2, Cincinnati edged Pittsburgh 4-3, Philadelphia downed Atlanta 7-3 and the tie Chavarría all the way from New York Mets blanked St. Louis 2-0 in 10 innings.

Barber, who retired 14 Yankees at one stretch as he lifted his record to 7-2, was locked in a scoreless tie with Fred Talbot until the Orioles broke through in the seventh inning.

Brooks Robinson singled, Boog Powell walked, Blefary hit his 12th homer and Talbot's record was 5-5.

Two homers by Colavito and a run-scoring single by Vic Davalillo proved enough for the Indians in the opener.

The Red Sox came back in the nightcap, winning it with two out in the ninth on a walk to Carl Yastrzyski and Don Demeter's double off Tom Kelley. Colavito also homered in the nightcap while Tony Conigliaro hit one in each game for Boston.

The White Sox broke a 4-4 tie in the opener, scoring three runs in the ninth on a single by Ken Berry, a walk to pitcher Bob Locker, Tommy Agee's triple and Bill Skowron's grounder. Rookie Chuck Dobson pitched a five-hitter for the A's in the nightcap and drove in the tie-breaking run in the seventh when his bunt single scored Oz second base.

Bobby Knoop homered for the Angels in the second inning and Jose Cardenal triggered a three-run third inning rally with another homer. Dea Chance took it from there, bringing his record to 6-8 by limiting the Twins to six hits.

NEW YORK (NEA) — There aren't many fathers who could play it the way Mel Queen did and get the same results.

When Mel Queen No. 2 was born, Pop never even so much as gave him one of his battered old fielder's gloves, let alone invest in a new one.

And while Mel II was growing up, there were no pepper games in the back yard, no instructions at the dinner table and there was no pressure.

"He told me when I was still pretty young that if I wanted to make baseball a career I'd have to do it on my own," said Queen, 24, who is listed as an outfielder for the Cincinnati Reds.

The elder Queen pitched eight years in the majors with the Yankees and the Pirates. A right-hander, he was a fast-ball pitcher. Today he works in an aircraft plant at Bellflower, Calif.

And he lives knowing that his son learned the lesson well, for young Mel is as independent as they come.

For example, he recently took an idea to Reds manager Don Heckner, who then took it to the front office. Mel Queen thinks he can become a pitcher, too.

Apparently the Reds think Queen makes sense. He is now in the Reds' bullpen. "You never get anywhere in this game waiting for things to happen," Queen said. "I've been sitting on the bench for Cincinnati and I'd rather be playing."

The Reds are rich in outfielders. Queen

Lemmon Delivers Kick in the Kicke

BY DICK KLEINER
Hollywood Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — "You'd better get over here quick," the man from United Artists said. "Jack Lemmon is kicking Judi West."

Since I get a boot out of kicks as much as the next fellow—or, conversely, since I get a kick out of boots as much as the next fellow—I hopped in my trusty Volvo and I was at the studio before you could say, "Pointed shoes?"

This was a big scene for "The Fortune Cookie." In it, Lemmon had discovered that Miss West had returned to him just because he had come into a lot of money.

Her contact lens had fallen out and she was on her hands and knees looking for it. This presented him with an alluring target, so he was supposed to kick her in the kicke and send her sprawling. Lemmon was warming up on the sidelines with a little leg-swinging.

"This is the moment we've all been waiting for," one of the technicians said. Apparently, Miss West had not endeared herself to the crew and most of them would have liked being in Lemmon's shoes—or, at least, his one active shoe.

DIRECTOR BILLY WILDER demonstrated what he wanted. It turned out he had in mind not so much a kick as a shove, with Miss West ending up prone on her stomach. "Let's run through it," Wilder said.

Walter Matthau stood throughout the scene, holding a glass and watching the proceedings with a sardonic air. Judi got down on all fours. Jack delivered his preliminary lines, then placed his foot on the appropriate spot and shoved.

"No," said Wilder. "Too rough. I want it gentle, ever so gentle."

"It doesn't bother me," Judi says. "It didn't hurt."

"I'm not worried about you," Wilder said. "I'm thinking of the picture, Mrs. Gefährlich. Look, Jack, if you kick somebody in the bottom, it doesn't have to be rough."

Wilder enjoys giving his players nicknames. He kept calling Judi "Mrs. Gefährlich," and later I looked the word up in my German-English dictionary and it means "dangerous."

THEY RAN THROUGH IT once more and then Wilder said they would shoot it. The first take seemed all right to us off-stage kick-watchers, but Wilder wasn't happy.

"Look, Mrs. Gefährlich," he said. "Don't move your behind so much. I'm surprised Jack could even reach you."

"I'm pretty good at hitting moving targets," Lemmon said.

It took a few more takes before it was shot. Then they had to shoot it from another angle, with Judi in the foreground, and they squirted tears in her eyes from a bottle for this scene.

WHEN IT WAS ALL OVER, I collected reactions from the participants.

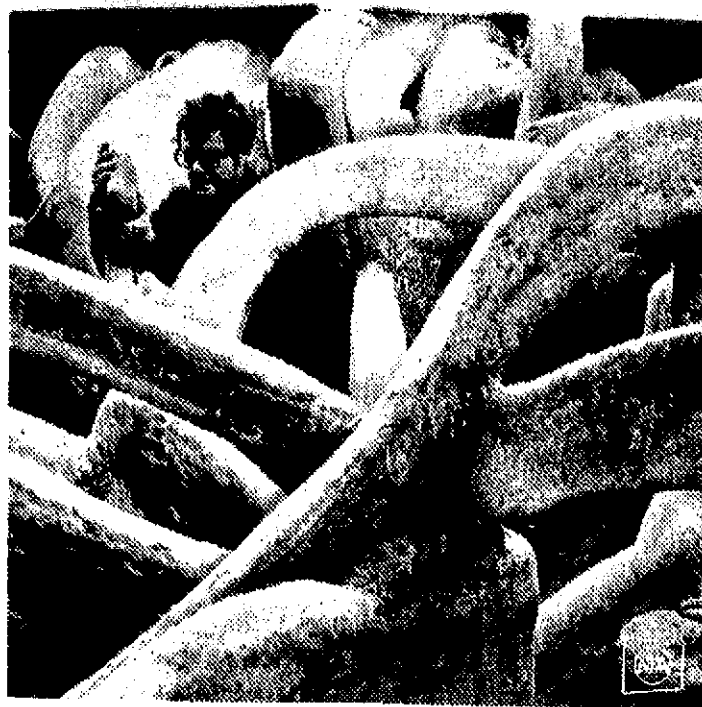

"It didn't hurt at all," Judi said. "I didn't even wear anything special underneath. If you're an actress, you have to do things like this."

"All in a day's work," Jack said, with the air of a boulevardier.

"I hope the people laugh at it," Wilder said. "I think it's funny, don't you?"

Sure it's funny. It was funny even when Charlie Chaplin did it.

UNDERGROUND ART—In addition to more than a passing similarity in appearance, this maze has one point in common with sewer pipes and buried dinosaur bones—it's underground. Sculptor Rafael Benazzi puts the finishing touches on a work of art he's entitled "Hole" because that's exactly where it is, in a hole at the Swiss Plastic Exhibition in Biel, Switzerland. Visitors must be content with peeps of the complicated twists and turnings through openings in the exhibition hall floor.

Green Thumb Tips

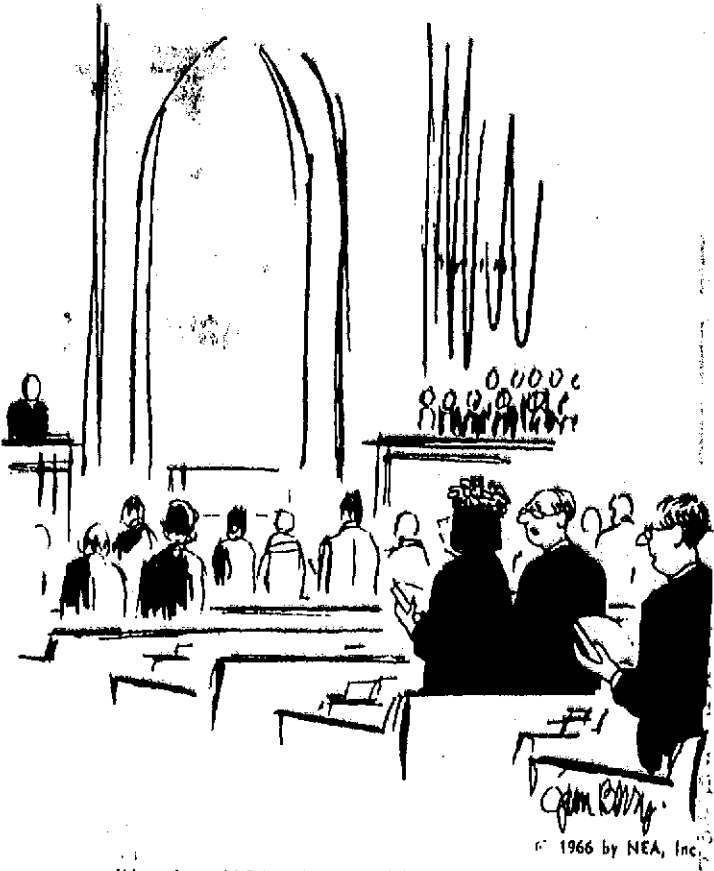

'Tis sad but true that most gardeners crowd their plants unmercifully. Whether they are vegetables or flowers, plants need room if they are to develop as they should and produce their best.

For instance, tomato plants that are trained to stakes will produce more fruits and larger ones if spaced 2 1/2 feet apart. Closer spacing means that each plant shades the next one and competes with it for nourishment, so down goes fruit production.

Tall-growing zinnias are an example of flowers which will bloom much more and have larger individual blossoms if thinned to stand 2 1/2 to 3 feet apart. Every other plant a gardener grows also will profit from being allowed ample room to grow.

So you know the wishbone flower, the proper name of which is torenia? It can be grown in either sun or shade, forms little bushes so is as attractive grown in pots as it is in a bed or border, and may have flowers of blue or white or both colors in the same bloom.

Pamper Skin in Summer

by Alicia Hart

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Retouch a photograph and almost any woman looks pleasantly attractive.

Unfortunately, few women run through their minute-to-minute lives looking photographically perfect. Summer, especially, brings a letdown that takes several weeks to recoup in the fall. This is why it is essential to take special care during urgent pursuit of the fleeting days of summer.

Most women cope with minor disasters quickly. The chigger or mosquito bites, peeling noses, scratches and bruises are here today, gone tomorrow. Their quick-care treatment does not hold true in the complexion department. This is why it is critically important, dermatologists stress, for a woman to protect her skin more and more from overexposure to wind and sun.

Continual use and reapplication of tanning lotions and creams or special screening agents for those who cannot face the sun without turning into lobsters still hold as good health rules to follow.

There is more to maintaining a complexion through the years, though.

After-care is the secret. This especially is crucial to a woman's complexion when she is past 25 and even the younger woman will find her skin shows fewer signs of aging if she follows the beauty care guidelines set for her older counterpart.

Tailor your beauty routine to the setting. Make a list of your favorite, effective beauty aids and take them along on camp-outs or foreign vacations.

If you can't soak in a tub, rub a bath oil over your body before showering. Concentrate on knees, heels, elbows, chest and forearms where dry skin aging shows first.

Pat dry, don't rub, after a shower and apply an extra coating of a moisturizing lotion. A woman's skin loses its natural oils year by year and any help through bath oils and moisturizers is to the good.

Decisions by Court Very Liberal

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court gave some historic decisions in the 1965-66 term which ended Monday even though this was not its most spectacular session.

Its major actions, following the liberal direction of a dozen years, were in the field of rights.

The court extended and protected an individual's rights against the power and machinery of government; the right to a fair trial; to keep quiet and have a lawyer in a police station; and to free speech.

The court not only knocked out the poll tax payment as a requirement for voting but, in upholding sections of the 1965 Voting Rights Act, opened the way for more thousands to vote, particularly Negroes.

In this the court supported President Johnson, who called for the 1965 law, and Congress which passed it.

Nevertheless, these decisions, far-reaching as they were, were not as sensational as some others these past 12 years: the ban on public school segregation; reapportionment of state legislatures; separation of church and state by banning compulsory school prayers.

Although a majority of five of the nine justices usually are considered liberal and the other four more conservative, some of the decisions looked upon, as liberal would have been impossible without some of the conservatives because now and again a liberal justice said no.

This year the Court went further than ever in protecting a person arrested as a crime suspect — against forced confessions — by ruling he must be told by police he doesn't have to answer questions and must be given a lawyer if he wants one but can't afford one.

The court then said this strict limit on the use of confessions at trials applies only to cases where the trial began after the decision, which was on June 13.

And the court put a flat responsibility on trial judges everywhere to conduct fair trials when it ruled Dr. Samuel Sheppard, who had served nine years for the bludgeon-slaying of his wife, didn't get one.

The court said the judge in Sheppard's case let newsmen turn the trial into a carnival.

In still another case the court said defense counsel may not waive his client's constitutional right to plead innocent, to have a trial, and to cross-examine witnesses.

And a ban was put on any sentence over six months for criminal contempt in federal court unless the defendant gets a jury trial or waives it.

Payment of a poll tax as a prerequisite for voting in federal elections was outlawed by the Constitution's 24th Amendment, adopted in 1964. But the court banned it in state elections, too.

It didn't use the 24th Amendment but the 14th, saying poll taxes in state elections violate the 14th, which guarantees all citizens equal protection under law, whenever it makes the "affluence of the voter or payment of any fee an election standard."

Dipping into the obscenity field, the court ruled that sexy tracts designed to exploit their "salacious appeal" may be banned from the mails. This may have to be explained further. It caused confusion.

In another case the court reaffirmed its opinion that a public official cannot collect for libel unless he can prove actual malice.

Many more thousands of voters can cast a ballot because the court approved sections of the 1965 Voting Rights Act giving Congress the right to suspend state literacy tests and similar voting qualifications and to authorize the attorney general to appoint federal examiners to authorize the attorney general various parts of the country.

Old Public Service

The delivery of letters is one of the oldest public services. Darius the Great, in 500 B.C., operated a postal system throughout Persia. Our word post is derived from the Latin positus, which means "placed," because horses were stationed at intervals for riders to relay Roman dispatches.

Luci Johnson has ruled out television coverage of her August wedding. NASA Director James Webb has warned of a crisis in space planning unless a decision is made soon on projects to follow the Apollo manned landing on the moon.

Skulduggery at an Arkansas Fishing Derby

Glenn A. Luster, the Little Rock-based sales representative of Mergenthaler Linotype Co., visited us yesterday while on vacation and told a sharp fishing story in which he was personally involved along with some other Little Rock men at a fishing club near Stuttgart.

They were holding a fishing derby at the Fuller Duck Club on one of the reservoirs just outside Stuttgart and Glenn missed the first-prize money by just an ounce or two. The man who turned up with the heaviest fish was a Little Rockian by the name of George Hartung.

But just as the judges were about to award Hartung the prize money someone in the back of the crowd at the weighing-in ceremony hollered "Foul!"

Said the judges to Hartung: "There is a protest and we'll have to hold up the prize money."

Hartung was indignant. "You fellows have known me for a long time," he replied, "and you know I never in my life put lead weights in a fish just to win some money. Cut open my fish and see for yourself."

So they cut open the fish — and in its belly were two fair-lead rocks.

Of course it was a frame-up, and the judges knew it. Just to aggravate Hartung one of the contestants had shoved the rocks down the fish's throat while the champ had his back turned.

Hartung looked at the fish, examined the rocks, and said to the judges: "You guys can't hold this against me. You all know it's quite common for big-mouth bass to turn up with gall stones!"

The derby judges — all of Little Rock, Monsignor James E. O'Connell, Beloit Taylor, and J. K. Bishop — told Hartung: "Well, this case deserves to be tried. We'll appoint Glenn Luster defense counsel. Mr. Luster, how do you plead your guilt?"

"Guilty!" said Luster.

Said Hartung: "You're fired!"

Calls Draft System Old, Out Dated

By WILBUR MARTIN
WASHINGTON (AP) — A member of a House committee examining the military draft charged today that methods used by the Selective Service System are as antiquated as a "horse and buggy in a jet age."

The comments of Rep. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., came after L. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey told the Armed Services Committee he opposes a centralized computer system to select young men for induction.

Schweiker described Hershey's opposition as a "fetish." The committee member advocated "national standards and a national pool of registrants," claiming present procedures "are way behind times."

"We have no national standards now," he said in an interview. "We have 4,000 individual boards, each determining its own policy of who will be drafted and who will be deferred."

"We should have a national pool. Some boards are drafting fathers, and some are not," Schweiker said.

Space Exploration Pact Conference

UNITED NATIONS, N.H. (AP) — Representatives of the United States and the Soviet Union will meet in Geneva July 12 to discuss a treaty for free and peaceful exploration of the moon and other planets, diplomatic sources report.

The sources said the talks will be held in the legal subcommittee of the 28-nation U.N. committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space.

Austrian Ambassador Kurt Waldheim, the committee's chairman, has said he is encouraged over prospects for agreement on a treaty.

The United States and the Soviet Union submitted similar draft treaties to the United Nations last Thursday.

Faubus Says He Could Run in September

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Orval Faubus said Wednesday night that there appeared to be three leaders in the Democratic gubernatorial race, one strong contender and three also-rans.

But Faubus declined to attach names to his rating.

Faubus, in an expansive television interview, discussed the governor's race and his own administration.

When asked about a rumor that he might re-enter the governor's race in September as an independent candidate, Faubus replied, "I've heard the rumor too."

He continued: "I had thought that when I got out of it, I would be out of it and I wouldn't have to bear the burden of campaign charges."

Some of this has come in the form of criticism of his legal adviser, William J. Smith.

Any gubernatorial candidate who attacks Smith does so because he is running behind, Faubus said.

Jim Johnson, one of the seven Democratic candidates, has led the way in attacking Smith, calling him, among other things, "the assistant governor in charge of influence."

Johnson, meanwhile, in a speech at Osceola, continued to refer to what he calls the "three hired candidates for governor." Frank Holt, Brooks Hays and Dale Alford.

These three, Johnson charged, are trying to sweep recent Faubus administration scandals under the rug in a vain effort to fool the people. They have, he said, "dismissed these scandals lightly by their meaty-mouthed and anemic comments about mistakes that have been made."

Denied Permission to Attend Meet

GENEVA (AP) — The South African government has refused Anglican Bishop A. H. Zulu permission to attend a conference on church and society in Geneva next month, the World Council of Churches announced today.

Bishop Zulu is bishop of the diocese of St. John's Transkei in South Africa.

The Transkei is the first of the self-governing territories which the South African government is establishing for nonwhites.

$390,000 for Buffalo Park

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus said Tuesday a $390,000 federal grant had been approved for the Buffalo River State Park, for development of tourist facilities. He said the money will be matched by state funds.

Local Group Going to Convention

The 45th annual convention of the American Legion Auxiliary, Department of Arkansas, will be held Friday, June 24 through Sunday, June 26 at the Hotel Marion in Little Rock. Miss Ivah Kuykendall of Conway Department President, will be in charge.

The Auxiliary will join with the American Legion for the opening session at 10 a.m. Friday with a memorial service performed by the Department Chaplains, the Rev. George Fletcher of El Dorado and Mrs. Charles Sewell of Malvern. The Auxiliary will open its session Friday at 2 p.m.

Attending from Hope Unit 12 will be Mrs. Joe Jones, Mrs. Lucy Mae Williams, Gayle Williams, and Mrs. E. F. Formby. Gayle, winner of the $1,000 National President's Scholarship Award for 1966, will have part on the program Saturday, and Mrs. Formby a past Department President, will install the new officers at the closing session on Sunday.

Dangerous Thing Is to Lose Enthusiasm

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Burt Lancaster, the millionaire movie actor, testily polished off a luncheon order of six cherry-stone clams — which were three clams more than he used to earn a week as a circus acrobat.

"I had a happy childhood herd — four kids living in a walkup, coldwater railroad flat in East Harlem," he said. "I often doubt if my own kids have as much fun as I did."

"We used to like to play stickball in the streets. Eight times I was knocked down or run over by cars."

The big, handsome film star, who at 52 still looks fit enough to play halfback on a pro football team, rubbed his side reminiscently.

"It was bright, exciting and dangerous — but all life is, or should be. I don't believe you can create a Utopian society built on total safety. You have to take your chances."

Taking a chance has been a key part of the Lancaster credo ever since he quit college after his sophomore year to see the world while doing backflips and somersaults for a circus.

State Paving Saratoga to Millwood Rd.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Highway Commission took a 2.8-mile section of county road into the state system Wednesday and ordered it reconstructed because of an invitation to President Johnson.

The President has been invited to attend the dedication of the Millwood Dam on the Little River east of Ashdown in October, and the commission said the gravel county road from Saratoga to the dedication site "would not improve the image of Arkansas."

Cost of the road project was estimated at $48,000.

In another action the commission voted to spend $2,000 for publication of 5,000 copies of a safety manual for employees.

The commission also programmed a number of road and bridge construction projects, including these, by county, with the estimated cost:

Dodd's Trip Is Termed a Coverup

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former aide of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd describes as "a coverup and no more" Dodd's contention that the purpose of his trip to West Germany two years ago was to question an agent of "the Soviet murder apparatus."

James P. Boyd Jr., who testified again today before the Senate Ethics Committee, made the charge Wednesday as the bipartisan panel opened public hearings on the Connecticut Democrat's dealings with public relations man Julius Klein.

Boyd, Dodd's former administrative assistant and now unemployed, testified the senator took off in the midst of a Senate civil rights filibuster after repeated appeals from Klein for help in retaining his firm's West German clients.

Klein, a registered agent for West German interests, had complained that his role in a Senate Foreign Relations Committee investigation had been distorted in the European press.

Dodd quietly puffed on a pipe while Boyd testified. He told newsmen he wished he could testify today. But he added he expects it will be some days before he has an opportunity to testify. He had said he welcomed the investigation.

His lawyer, former Asst. Atty. Gen. John F. Sonnett, said he plans to call about half a dozen witnesses. He said Dodd will be the last one "if I can hold him back."

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Ethics Committee starts taking public testimony today in its investigation of misconduct charges against Sen. Thomas J. Dodd.

James P. Boyd Jr., 37, Dodd's former administrative assistant, was called as the first witness. Boyd has acknowledged turning over thousands of documents from the senator's files to columnist Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson.

The initial round of hearings by the bipartisan committee is limited to inquiring into Dodd's relations with Julius Klein, owner of a Chicago public relations firm and a registered agent for West German interests.

In a series of columns Pearson and Anderson pictured Dodd as serving as "an errand boy" for Klein, delivering Senate speeches ghost-written by Klein and making a special trip to West Germany in 1964 to help Klein retain his clients there.

Dodd, a Connecticut Democrat, has denied these and other charges and filed a $2 million libel suit against the columnists. Klein, a retired Army major general who has been active in Republican politics, also has denied the charges.

Dodd has said he welcomes the investigation.

Shaky Truce in Florida Race Riots

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A precarious peace enforced by riot police settled on Pompano Beach's Negro district today after a day of violence and fear.

Despite a truce that was supposed to keep Negroes off the streets, more than 200 gathered in bands Wednesday night, pitching bottles and jeering at police.

When persuasion failed to break up the groups, police out on riot helmets, drew carbines and marched down the sidewalks of the main street in formation.

The bands, who the night before had showered police with rocks and bottles, broke and ran into the side streets as the officers advanced.

When some tried to filter back, the riot squad turned around and marched the length of the street again.

Within an hour the sidewalks were deserted. No arrests were made. The only damage was a shattered window on a patrol car.

Red Battalion Crippled in 3-Day Battle

SAIGON, South Viet N. (AP) — Back in battle after four months of politicking, South Viet Nam's 1st Army Division ended three days of hard fighting against the Communists today with the destruction of one Red battalion and the crippling of another.

The Vietnamese operation in South Viet Nam's northernmost province was the first major government operation since the Buddhist revolt virtually sidelined the 1st Division four months ago. Stirred up by Buddhist chaplains, many of the division's officers and men openly supported the antigovernment rebellion in the northern provinces.

After fierce fighting ended almost in the shadow of the frontier with North Viet Nam, field commanders said their troops counted 319 Communists killed, 96 captured and 68 weapons seized. Their own losses were light, they said.

U.S. advisers with the 5,000 to 6,000 Vietnamese troops hailed the battle as a major government victory. Said Marine Maj. N. E. Andersen of Cranston, R.I. "I think we have just about annihilated a full battalion."

A captured North Vietnamese captain told interrogators the Communists were lured into the fight because they thought the 1st Division could muster no more than a battalion of infantrymen and 15 pieces of armor because of the political dissension.

Dinner Out, King Critical of U.S. Jews

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay said today he has canceled tonight's scheduled reception for visiting King Faisal of Saudi Arabia.

Lindsay's office issued the following statement: "The dinner is canceled. Under the circumstances, the mayor has concluded that it would not be feasible to proceed with the dinner."

Faisal had stirred a political storm in New York with reported remarks that he regarded the Jews as his country's enemies.

The mayor had said earlier that he was "deeply disturbed" by the reports.

Charges Holt Has Copy of Welfare Rolls

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Kenneth Sulcer charged today that Frank Holt, one of his six opponents in the governor's race, had been furnished a copy of the welfare rolls for campaign purposes.

Sulcer said the list was furnished by a Welfare Department official whom he would not name.

At Holt's campaign headquarters, Bill Pruitt, a campaign official, laughed when he heard Sulcer's charge and said: "That's ridiculous. We've got no more rolls than Sulcer. In a word: No, we haven't been given a list."

He released a copy of a letter to Welfare Commissioner Jim Phillips in which he demanded to know whether Phillips had released the welfare list to any candidate and urging Phillips to issue an order prohibiting welfare employees from giving lists to any candidate.

Phillips, contacted after the Sulcer statement, said: "I don't know anything about it."

"If it happened and Sulcer knows who did it, I'd like to know myself."

"This sort of thing has never been done as long as I've been commissioner."

Bennett Hit for Lack of Action

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A Democratic candidate for attorney general, Joe Purcell of Benton, criticized Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett Tuesday for not taking action in the alleged asphalt price-rigging case.

The state Highway Department has been investigating to determine if it was overcharged for asphalt, and the Election Research Council, Inc., said last week that five companies allegedly rigged prices in dealings with the state.

"It shocks the understanding of every tax paying citizen," Purcell said. "To learn that the attorney general is exercising no effort to make investigation or take legal action for the recovery of state funds estimated to be in excess of $3.5 million."

Violence Is Reported in Miss. March

By HARRY ROSENTHAL
BENTON, Miss. (AP) — The Mississippi march to promote Negro voter registration fanned out on several fronts today following reports of another gunfire-explosive incident Wednesday night.

At Canton, which is in the line of march, police chief Dan Thompson said a bomb went off near civil rights headquarters Wednesday night.

A white man was shot, and a Negro leader, C. O. Chinn, was arrested, Thompson said.

The white man was not identified, nor was the extent of his injury available.

Canton is about 25 miles southeast of this march headquarters.

Plans for a rally Friday in Philadelphia, Miss., where three civil rights workers were slain three years ago, occupied the time and energies of most march leaders.

For the rank and file, headed down Miss. 16, Canton — site of several civil rights struggles in the past — loomed just ahead.

Lawyers sought swift action on a petition for a federal injunction to forbid interference with the rally in Philadelphia, a Ku Klux Klan stronghold.

The march will supply about 75 persons for the Philadelphia rally. They will be handicapped for their devotion to the principle of nonviolence and driven to the town by buses. Philadelphia is about 70 miles east of Benton.

Hosea Williams, a march leader, said federal court was asked to order police protection for the rally, to be led by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., and Floyd B. McKissick.

King heads the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, McKissick directs the Congress of Racial Equality. Both are considered "moderate" organizations.

Granny Steps Out in Style

by Helen Hennessy
Women's Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Many teen-agers may be wearing their hemlines four inches above the knees but the feminine influence of the long Granny dress is still with us. And its flounced hemline puts the spotlight squarely on feet and ankles when they peek out.

Colorful casual shoes and textured hosiery are part of this soft, pretty look.

Comfortable little accessory shoes with rubber soles and heels are designed in a group of summer styles to be worn with everything from the Granny to bell-bottom pants.

There's a skimmer pump that's right with everything from shorts to ruffles. A versatile tie with a cut-out vamp can be worn for sportswear and then dressed up by substituting ribbon in place of laces. And another sottie takes the shape of a pump with a buckle made from the fabric.

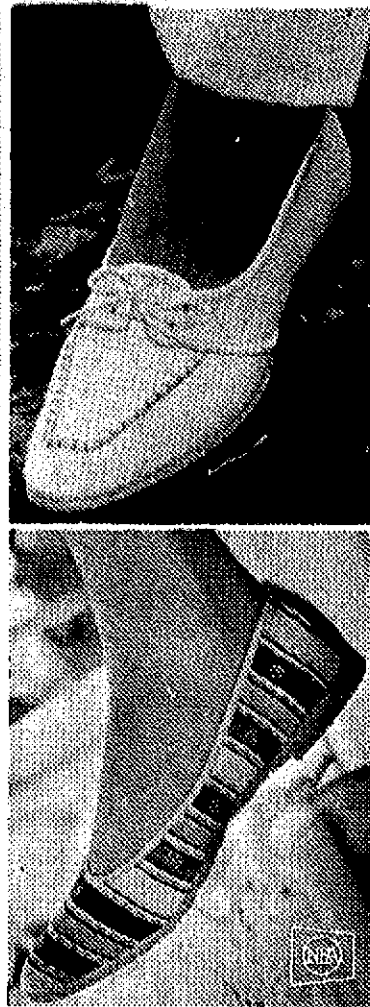

Bright yellow, orange, turquoise and red are the gay colors for a variety of casual shoes. And white and neutral shades are perfect with provincial prints, polka dots, stripes and checks found in casual summer clothes.

Fabric textures lend additional fashion and color interest to these casuals. There are rayon and silk slubbed surfaces, a linen weave in a blend of dacron and cotton and a smooth poplin.

And Granny never had it so good. All these are washable.

Granny was never so young nor so comfortably dressed for summer. She wears a Fiddlestick dress (left) from Banberry Cross in blue and white striped fabric. For the same rocking chair comfort she wears rubber-soled casuals in bright red textured fabric with white and black braid trim. Another example of colorful casual summer shoes is the two-eyelie tie with rubber sole and heel (upper right). This comes in a range of colors and is washable as is the striped shell pump (lower right). These shoes are Country Fair Casuals by B. F. Goodrich.

Kiddie Records—Books

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Those little ones, with their "Mommy, buy me that," are being more and more noticed by record companies as a big buying market.

MGM Records recently launched a good children's line of records under the label, Leo the Lion. Everything from fairy tales to Balman is included in the 20-odd records.

One of the pioneers in the field is Golden Records which, in 1959, more or less revolutionized the children's record industry by combining books and records.

Arthur Shmkin, who produces these combinations for Golden (and also for several other producers of children's records), says the average "Mommybuyethat" of today is much smarter than his counterpart of a couple decades ago.

"It's because of television. But now it is no longer enough merely to appeal to one of the child's senses. Because of television, he is used to both hearing and seeing. That's why book and record combinations are so valuable. On one of our records we had a man bark like a dog when it was time for the child to turn the page of the accompanying book.

"A child under four, who had memorized the book's text, barked each time he turned the page. His mother later said to me that he hadn't really learned anything. But I printed the word 'stop,' which showed up several times in the story, and the child recognized it."

BEST BUYS

A lot of current pop and protest artists like to think they are poets, but Rod

McKuen really is, and an album of his songs is given warm and sympathetic treatment by Glenn Yarbrough, an excellent singer. The fine album is called "The Lonely Things" (RCA Victor).

"Montserrat Caballe Sings Zarzuela Arias" (RCA Victor) is a must for lovers of classical music, lovers of fine singers, or lovers of things Spanish. It's a superb recording.

David McCallum repeats the good musicianship found in his first album with "Music: A Bit More of Me" (Capitol). "Pop Goes Baroque" is played by what the album lists as the "Provocative Strings of Zacharias." Pop tunes, like "Downtown" and "Can't Buy Me Love" are given a Handel to hold (RCA Victor).

Bill Cosby is marvelous talking about tonsils and ice cream, and dangerous kids' games and other memories of childhood in "Wonderfulness" (Warner Brothers).

William Mooney gives a virtuoso performance in "Half Horse, Half Alligator," a recreation of his one-man off-Broadway show which presents those good old days along the Mississippi. Great Americana. (RCA Victor).

Some charming Irish brogues come through the lyrics in "Angels Watching Over Me," a joyous album by the Medical Missionaries of Mary Choral Group (Kapp). Perry Como is right at home in Latin America in "Lightly Latin" (RCA Victor).

OTHER WORTH-WHILE VOCAL ALBUMS

"Folk Album: The Robert De Cormier Singers" (Command); "Beach Boys—Pet Sounds" (Capitol); "Wayne Newton—Now!" (Capitol); "The Best of Ronnie Dove" (Diamond); "Alexys" (Dot); "I Remember You—Frankie Randall" (RCA Victor); "Steve Alaimo Sings and Swings" (ABC-Paramount); "Greatest Hits of The New Christy Minstrels" (Columbia).

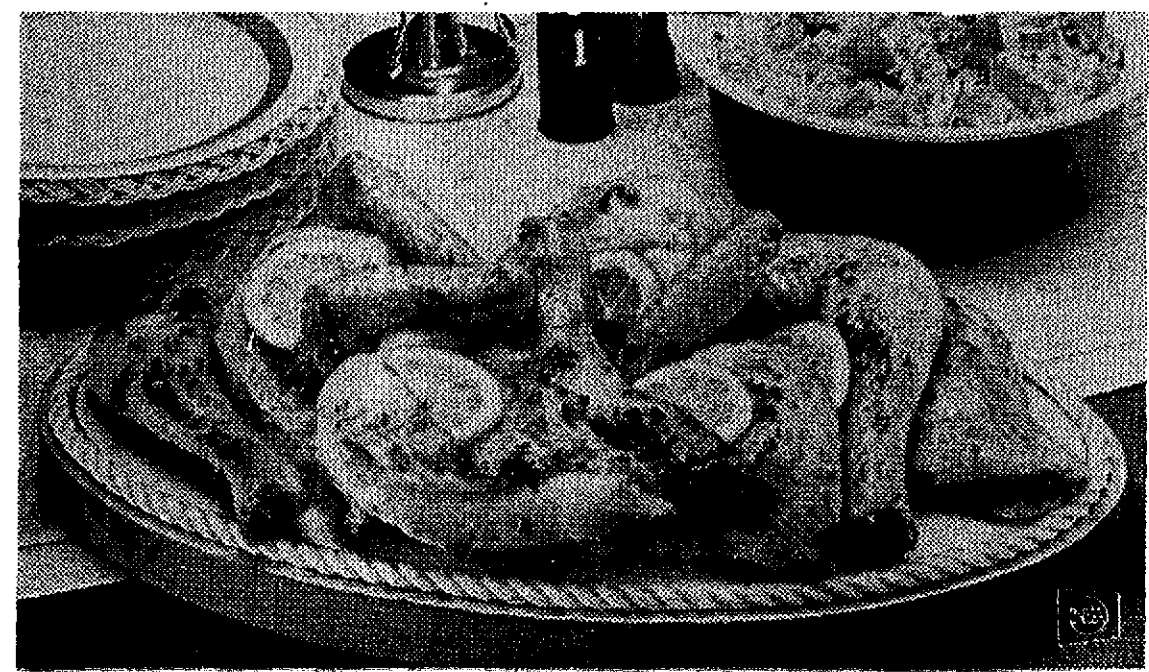

OTHER GOOD INSTRUMENTAL ALBUMS

"Roy Etzel—Blue Trumpet of Spanish Brass" (MGM); "Peter Nero—Up Close" (RCA Victor); "Love, Strings and Antonio Carlos Jobim" (Warner Brothers); "The Anita Kerr Orchestra" (Warner Brothers); "The Brubeck's Greatest Hits" (Columbia).

Wardrobe Treasure

For a wonderful knit that can make any dress a costume, why not invest in a beautifully trimmed jacket-sweater? Deep, soft lambs-wool, angora and rabbit hair, with the addition of bound edging in satin or ribbon, will make this a treasure in any wardrobe.

Families Love This Chicken Treat

FAIR WEATHER CHICKEN will delight your hungry family.

by Gaynor Maddox
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Chicken, like the weather, is a major subject of discussion in most homes. The Department of Agriculture estimates that about 65 per cent of the homemakers in the United States serve broiler-fryers once a week at least. Large families serve it more often, probably because it is less expensive than red meat.

Shoppers look for chicken that is well-cleaned, without bruises or discoloration, and the right size for their needs. Most consumers want government-inspected chicken. Broilers shipped from one state to another are inspected for wholesomeness and sanitary handling by government inspectors. Last year, 90 per cent of all poultry sold commercially was inspected by the Department of Agriculture.

FAIR WEATHER CHICKEN

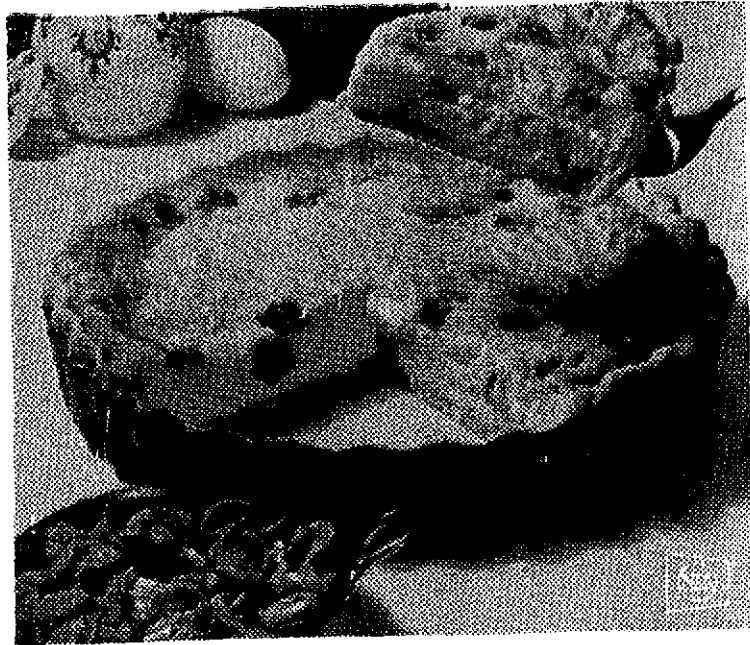

(Serves 8)
2 broiler-fryer chickens, cut in quarters
Salt
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup prepared mustard
6 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons dried leaf tarragon

Sprinkle chicken on both sides with salt and monosodium glutamate. Place skin-side down in foil-lined baking pans. Combine butter, mustard, lemon juice and tarragon in small saucepan; heat until butter melts and mixture is smooth. Brush mustard sauce over chicken; bake in hot oven, 425 degrees, 25 minutes, basting chicken frequently with additional sauce. Turn chicken; brush with sauce and bake 20 minutes longer, basting frequently. Heat remaining mustard sauce and serve with chicken. If desired, garnish with lemon slices.

Mushroom-Cheese Pie

MUSHROOM-CHEESE PIE has a French accent.

If you go to France this summer, you'll probably eat "Tarte Au Fromage Grand-Mère." If you stay home, you still can enjoy this mushroom-cheese pie, grandmother style. Not your grandmother's style, however, unless she happened to have been born in France.

The St. Paulin or Port Salut cheese used in the recipe, and special French mushrooms are imported from France. They are available in many supermarkets along with the eggs and milk and other American ingredients.

MUSHROOM-CHEESE PIE
(Makes one 9-inch pie)
1 package pie crust mix
1 cup (4-oz.) shredded St. Paulin or Port Salut
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons flour
1 can (3 1/2 oz.) French

mushrooms broiled in butter
3 eggs, well-beaten
2 cups milk or light cream
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper

Prepare pie crust according to package directions. Roll out and use pastry to line bottom and sides of an ungreased 9-inch pie pan fluting a high edge. Mix cheese, onion and flour. Put mixture into lined pan. Spoon mushrooms evenly over cheese. Beat eggs, milk, salt, mustard and pepper until smooth and well blended. Pour mixture evenly over cheese in pie pan. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for 40 to 45 minutes or until knife inserted in the center comes out clean.

Summer Snowballs

When summer comes, can snowballs be far behind? This cool classic—Snowballs with Caribbean Sauce—makes a spectacular dessert for teen parties, bridal showers, or Saturday night company dinners.

They're simple to make, and they'll simply melt in your mouth! Just roll balls of vanilla, coffee, chocolate, or any of your favorite ice cream flavors in crisp flaked coconut, and freeze. At serving time, spoon over delectable Caribbean Sauce made with rich, unsulfured molasses. This fine mellow molasses has been produced since Colonial days from the pure, concentrated juice of sugar cane grown in the sunny islands of the West Indies, giving it exotic, tropical flavor.

Go native—escape with this dessert all summer long!

Snowballs With Caribbean Sauce

1 can (3 1/2 ounces) flaked coconut
1 quart vanilla, coffee or chocolate ice cream
Spread coconut in small shallow pan. Scoop ice cream into 8 balls and roll in coconut. Transfer to foil-lined shallow pan; freeze.
Caribbean Sauce
1/2 cup butter or margarine 1/2 cup evaporated milk
1/2 cup sugar 2 tablespoons rum flavoring, optional
1/2 cup unsulfured molasses
Melt butter in saucepan; add sugar and molasses. Bring to a full rolling boil, stirring occasionally. Reduce heat and boil 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; stir in evaporated milk and rum flavoring. Serve warm or cold over snowballs.
YIELD: 1 1/2 cup sauce.

Cake Says 'Howdy' to Neighbors

by Gaynor Maddox
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

We are a nation on the move. About 40 million people move to a different address every year. Your chances of having a new neighbor are very high. So why not be friendly about it and say "howdy" to the stranger in an old-fashioned way?

You or your women's club can organize a "welcome neighbor kit." Here's how it's done, quickly and easily. Use a picnic basket or other container-box or small carton. Place in it a canned soup for quick heat-up in the new home. Make simple sandwiches with sliced meat and plain bread; hearty, the way most families like things. Include can opener and paper napkins, hot cups and plates which can be discarded easily. The finishing touch is the chocolate "Howdy" cake. You'll agree this is a friendly, practical way to greet the new neighbor.

1 package cake mix
1 14-ounce can (1 1/4 cups) sweetened condensed milk
1/4 cup butter

"HOWDY" CAKE welcomes new neighbors.

1/4 teaspoon salt
1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
1 teaspoon vanilla
Prepare and bake cake mix according to package directions, using a 13 x 9 x 2-inch baking pan. Cool completely. To make frosting, combine sweetened condensed milk, butter and salt in saucepan. Place over moderate heat and bring just to a boil, stirring constantly. Boil 1 minute, continuing to stir. Remove from heat. Add semi-sweet chocolate morsels and vanilla; stir until smooth and blended. Cool at room temperature until thick enough to spread, 10 to 20 minutes. Frost cake. With miniature marshmallows, write "Howdy" across cake.

Men Wear Ladies' Hair

Before

During

After

by Bob Cochran
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK — (NEA) — Wigs for men are not exactly news. Men have been wearing phony thatches for years and, unfortunately for them, most observers knew it.

Those sloppy-looking hairpieces of yore which tilted at the hint of a breeze made the wearer look pretty silly. Even a bald noggin is better than a head of mismatched fuzz.

Times have changed. The modern male hairpiece—generally made of Italian female hair—is a carefully made product guaranteed to look real at all times.

And more and more men are wearing wigs. About two per cent of the nation's bald men owned hairpieces in 1963; seven per cent in 1964; 15 per cent last year. Current sales records show that approximately 40 per cent will own them by the end of 1966.

According to Vincent Napoli, president of Liza Wigs and Wiglets, Inc., a firm which has recently moved into the men's hairpiece business, the figures reflect a changing attitude on the part of both men and women toward the question of hairpieces for men.

He adds: "Now it is often the woman who persuades her husband to buy a hairpiece. In the past she might have thought it in bad taste for him to wear one and he would have been embarrassed by the whole idea."

There are a lot of men, of course, who actually look better bald. They are a lot more honest about their situation than the gents who let their side hair grow and paste the wispy strands over their skulls.

Several strands draped over a dome serve as pretty poor camouflage. The man with the high forehead who refuses to wear a wig should have the remaining hair close-cropped and spend some time under a sunlamp.

On the other hand, a wig does improve appearances considerably. More and more barbers are opening up wiggeries in their back rooms and many department stores now offer hairpieces for men.

A good hairpiece — one which is undetectable on the head — is not inexpensive. Prices range from $175 to $300, depending on the amount of hair needed. And they last for about two years. It is up to the wearer to decide whether the investment is sound.

French Beef With Built-In Encore

by Gaynor Maddox
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Take a 4-pound rump or chuck roast to begin with. Use your pressure cooker. Then follow these happy instructions. Result? Potted Beef French-Style for one day and a Savory Beef Casserole with potato ring for the following day—in other words, one delicious dish with a built-in encore.

1st Day

POTTED BEEF
FRENCH STYLE
(Serves 6 to 8)

2 tablespoons olive or salad oil

3 1/2 to 4 lb. rump or chuck roast

1 onion, chopped
1/2 cup diced celery
1 clove garlic, chopped
1 carrot, chopped
1 bay leaf

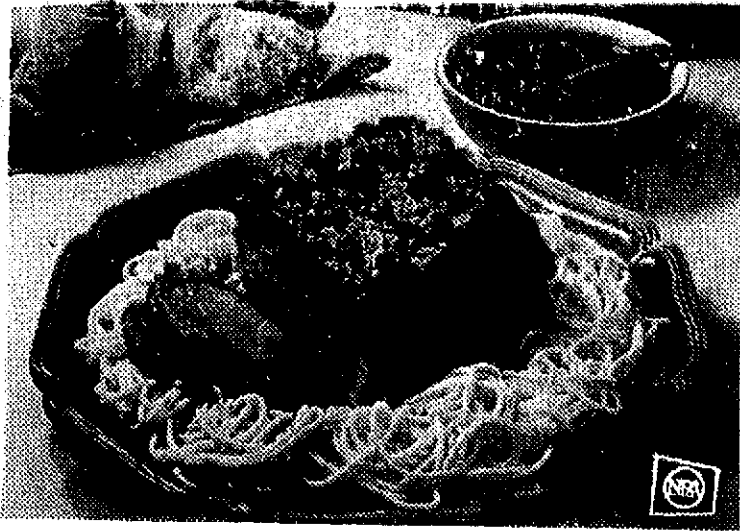

2 teaspoons salt
1/2 cup dried mushrooms (about 1/2 oz.)

1 can (6 oz.) tomato paste
1 can (10 1/2 oz.) beef broth
1 cup red wine

Leftover gravy
Water
1 beef bouillon cube
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Salt, pepper
1 envelope instant mashed potatoes

Combine beef, onions, peas and parsley in a 2-quart casserole. Mix leftover gravy with enough water to make 2 cups liquid. Add bouillon cube and Worcestershire; heat to a boil. Add salt and pepper to taste. Prepare mashed potatoes according to package directions. Pour gravy over ingredients in casserole, heap potatoes in ring on top. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees) 15-20 minutes, or until heated through.

Heat pressure cooker and add oil. Brown roast on all sides. Add prepared vegetables and seasonings. Blend tomato paste with broth and wine. Pour over meat. Close cover securely. Cook 35 minutes. Let pressure drop of its own accord. Serve with gravy.

POTTED BEEF creates a double delight.

2nd Day

SAVORY BEEF CASSEROLE
(Serves 4)

2 cups cubed cooked beef
1 can small white onions,

drained
1 package frozen peas or cut green beans
2 tablespoons minced parsley

Will Spank Stifle Inventor?

By Aileen Snoddy, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The next time son Willie Elvis, 6, puts the cat's tail into the electric blender and sends spooky music into each room of the house restrain that angry swat. He may be a potential inventor.

The child is, as a successful inventor points out, experiencing serendipity. Now serendipity is "the gift of finding valuable and agreeable things not sought for." Frankly, the cat could have done without this type of "S." Our current economy could not.

And no matter the millions spent for elaborate electronic brains, there is still a crying need for a free mind that goes beyond the chains of one-plus-one equals a salable product.

This opinion rests upon the broad shoulders of a white-haired inventor, Richard G. Drew, now retired, who is responsible for such essential day-to-day office and home aids as transparent tape, masking tape, typewriter cleaner, scouring pads, cold weather masks, and the Tartan surfacing material for race tracks, athletic fields and gymnasiums.

Drew was director of the products fabrication laboratory for Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co. for 19 years and has been inventing for the firm since he answered an ad in the 1920s for a "boy to work in mechanical laboratory." "Circumstances at the time I answered the ad," he explains, "meant I had to earn a living." He took a correspondence course in mechanical drawing and lost out on a drafting job because "his lettering was terrible." Rejected here, he found the job in a then one-man lab for the firm that eventually grew to a billion-dollar giant.

Throughout the years Drew says he hired many young men without degrees in physics or sciences or technical training because they asked for lab jobs or were discontented in the work they were doing.

This discontent is important in innovating or inventing, he feels, or in what he calls rough-and-tumble research. The other level of research and development, he admits, needs highly trained scientific handling. But he jabs tongue-in-cheek at Ph. D.s for being "competent but too cautious."

"Inventing is like cooking," Drew firmly believes, "and this is why it can't be limited to those who know all the theorems in books."

Homemakers, for example, are potential inventors because they are always changing things around the house... adding and subtracting ingredients or putting them together in a different way. And this to him is inventing.

Is there a difference between the dreamer and the inventor? Drew says, "Yes, there is."

The dreamer, he says, really may not like to work and never works out the technicality of his ideas. The inventor follows through.

With all the emphasis on electronic computers, Drew is happy that many firms now set up classes for employees to work on creative problems. He definitely feels that creativity can be encouraged. Psychologists must think so too because they have interviewed him (and others) as part of studies attempting to identify the creative potential in an individual.

In his own mind he feels parents can encourage inventiveness and creativity through permissiveness. "This has to be controlled. I don't mean letting a child set fire to the house."

Parents encourage a child to experiment, he says, by not saying "no" to a project because it means cleaning up afterwards. They discourage inventiveness by overprotecting a child because of fear.

"We all need to live a little dangerously to come up with something new," he believes.

Serve Hot Chicken Salad at a Bridal Shower

If you, like most women, love the excitement of planning for a wedding, invite a few friends to a pretty bridal luncheon party to fete a favorite niece or daughter of a friend.

Prepare dishes that are pretty as a wedding party but uncomplicated so you won't miss any of the fun. This Hot Chicken Salad, served either in patty shells or toast cups, delightfully meets both qualifications. It's a delicately spiced combination of chicken, pineapple, and walnuts in a super-smooth sauce of condensed cream of chicken soup. Assembling the dish shouldn't take you more than a few minutes.

Round out the menu with asparagus and a salad of sliced tomatoes and cucumbers. For dessert serve lemon sherbet

HOT CHICKEN SALAD

1/2 cup chopped celery
Generous dash nutmeg
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of chicken soup
2 tablespoons sour cream
cups cubed cooked chicken
1/2 cup drained pineapple tidbits
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
2 tablespoons chopped pimento
1/4 teaspoon salt
Generous dash pepper
Patty shells or toast cups

In saucepan, cook celery with nutmeg in butter until tender. Add soup, sour cream, chicken, pineapple, walnuts, pimento, salt, and pepper. Heat; stir now and then. Serve in patty shells or toast cups. Makes 6 servings.

Your money's worth more at SAFEWAY!

The most important totals at Safeway are not calculated by our cash registers. Our low prices are important, but we know that real success is determined by the total of satisfaction which you calculate on each visit. It depends upon many things: big selection of finest quality fresh, frozen, canned and packaged foods; a wide range of excellent non-foods; courteous, efficient service by friendly clerks; a clean, well-arranged store; and, of course, low prices. Please check us and see how well we do. We're sure you'll agree your money's worth more at Safeway.
